ADULT AND ADOLESCENT SUBSTANCE ABUSE

Characteristics of Addiction

- Impaired control over alcohol or other drug use.
- Cravings
- Use of drugs despite adverse consequences.

Drug addiction is typically a chronic disorder. For many, treatment is long-term. In order for treatment to be effective, it should fit the needs of the individual. Our programs provide a combination of individual and group services to meet client needs.

Addiction and mental health problems often go hand in hand.

People who are addicted to drugs often suffer from other health, job, family, and social problems. Treatment can aid the development of healthy relationships and improve the person's ability to interact with family, peers, and others in the community.
